A 100

1. A number of people are involved in the process of creating a new product or service. The process is often complex and involves many different stages. The first stage is usually the identification of a need or problem. This is followed by the development of a concept or idea. The next stage is the design of the product or service. This is followed by the production of a prototype. The final stage is the launch of the product or service into the market.
